

Our Services:

Your best interest is our best interest

For most organizations, where “one size fits all” solutions simply don’t work, SOURCING ANALYTICS can perform a variety of project services customized for your environment, and your combination of insourced, co-sourced, and outsourced HR business functions.

With expertise in both provider-side and employer-side consulting, SOURCING ANALYTICS is uniquely positioned to offer value to all stakeholders in the HR / benefits / payroll partnership. And since we do not provide vendor search and selection services, our only interest is in the result we deliver to you.

We utilize our expertise to recommend the right-fit solutions delivered at the right-fit price, and the right-fit organizational structure using the right-fit management processes, all designed for your business environment.

“our only interest is in the result we deliver to you”

In addition, by offering consulting assistance throughout your sourcing life cycle, you can take advantage of point-in-time or ongoing analysis, evaluation, and recommendations for adjustment to your service partnerships.

What makes SOURCING ANALYTICS unlike any other HR consulting firm in the marketplace?

- Expertise in HR / benefits / payroll service delivery with no vendor bias
- Financial analysis, business case development, and relationship reviews
- Services for both providers and employers
- Focus on optimizing the relationship with the numbers and processes to support it
- Focus on continuous assessment of partnership performance

Real Value:

No “soft” analytics and no finger pointing

What makes SOURCING ANALYTICS unlike any other HR consulting firm in the marketplace?

Because we do not provide solution search and selection services, we have no vendor bias. Our only interest is in the outcome of each analysis designed to evaluate and optimize our clients’ HR service delivery relationships.

“we can deliver on the potential of profitable, efficient, and organizationally appropriate service relationships”

Whether you are a vendor, provider, or employer, our goal is to facilitate your insourcing or outsourcing business case analysis, including ROI, to help make sourcing performance accountable, and to enable your company to make the most of all your HR / benefits / payroll partnerships.

Critical to the effectiveness of our approach is the participation of executives, account managers, implementation teams, quality and relationship managers, as well as HR, finance, and departmental subject matter experts.

Together, we can deliver on the potential of profitable, efficient, and organizationally appropriate service relationships and programs, and the analyses and management processes to monitor and measure their success.

With proven methodologies and in-depth knowledge of available products and services, SOURCING ANALYTICS can assure both providers and employers the business case development, the numbers, and the organizational processes by which to excel at HR service delivery.

Additional Consulting Services

SOURCING ANALYTICS can also provide the following HR / benefits / payroll solution-related services:

- Implementation project management
- Post-implementation audit
- Process review and redesign
- Risk management assessment
- Market surveys / studies / analysis

SOURCING ANALYTICS

A new approach to ensuring HR service excellence

In a business environment where the options for human resource, benefits, and payroll service delivery are increasingly complex, and the expectations of bottom line impact are unrelenting, organizations of all types and sizes look to justify and optimize these critical administrative choices.

But success in managing partnered solutions is not just desirable; it is essential. The costs of failure can be staggering. For the provider - purchase, renewal, and leasing revenues are at risk, along with implementation, training, and support investments that may rise into the millions of dollars. For the employer, it is much the same picture – time, expense, and business disruption, as well as management and employee dissatisfaction from unmet expectations.

Whether you insource, co-source, or outsource some or all of your HR, benefits, and payroll functions, SOURCING ANALYTICS can help.

Founded to assist providers and their clients in supporting the HR services relationship, SOURCING ANALYTICS brings a unique perspective to the table.

With Big Four professionalism and methodologies – without the overhead – we are committed to supporting the service partnership, and ensuring that it is managed for success.

Our mission

- Business Case Development
- Relationship Review
- Additional Consulting Services

About the founder

After 18 years in management consulting, and 12 years in Big Four environments specializing in HR, benefits, and payroll service delivery, Donald Glade founded SOURCING ANALYTICS. He recognized a unique opportunity and a pressing need.

Experienced in applying critical financial and organizational analysis techniques to providers as well as employers, Don realized that success for both sides of the table relies upon ongoing success of the relationship. He is guided by this principle, along with in-depth knowledge of both the provider marketplace, and employer service requirements.

As such, SOURCING ANALYTICS analyzes, quantifies, recommends, and monitors solutions that enable companies to optimize their HR / benefits / payroll service partnerships.

With a string of project successes under his belt, Don provides Big Four professionalism and results, without the overhead.

Don is a frequent public speaker, and holds a B.A. in Economics & Political Science from Duke University.
